

Jamie McLeod
Area 7 Representative

BACKGROUND:

Born and raised in Southern California, with the exception of six years in the Bay Area, I have spent my entire life in SoCal, until last year. I have a B.A. from Scripps College and a Master's in Library Science from UC Berkeley. I started off my working life in libraries and antiquarian bookstores, but eventually gravitated towards the real estate industry, first as an agent and then worked in escrow for many years.

LIVING ON THE NORTH COAST:

My husband, Steve, and I moved to Cambria in February 2018, so we are relatively new full timers. We've been busy exploring the whole North Coast area, as well as meeting and getting to know many wonderful area residents. We love it here and are still pinching ourselves over the fact that we live in this amazing place and get to call Cambria our home.

WHY I'M VOLUNTEERING FOR THE NCAC:

I'm volunteering because the NCAC is a great opportunity for community involvement. Learning more about local community issues, contributing solid input toward solutions, and representing Area 7 well are my goals.
